When I was a high school student, I went to Australia to study English. I stayed there for one year.

There were five people in my host family. They were very kind to me.

One day, my host family had a party for me. A lot of students from my school came to the party. Six students were from other countries like me. I tried to speak in English with the people at the party. They were interested in Japanese music. They asked me some questions about it. I told them many things about it. Then I asked them about the popular sports in their countries. We enjoyed talking very much. We all became good friends.

Well, everyone, English is useful. I still write e-mails in English to those friends in foreign countries. I think you can also make friends all over the world through English. I hope you'll learn many things about foreign cultures from them.
